The day of Carlos's soccer game was not going well. First he spilled hot chocolate all over his soccer pants. Then Carlos could not find his special socks. He looked in his bag. He looked in his room. He looked everywhere!

"Dad!" Carlos yelled. "I can't find my lucky socks! Carlos had to have his lucky socks. Every time he wore the socks, his team won the soccer game.

Then he saw Puddles, his wonderful new puppy. Puddles was eating something, but it wasn't a dog toy. It was Carlos's lucky socks! Carlos grabbed the socks, but they were full of holes.

"What can I do?" he asked his dad. "Grab another pair," he said. "You know you make your own luck."
